

Embracing Change to Win – Redline Racing

It's not a matter of if change is going to happen, but when. And today, the speed of change is only accelerating. If employees and organizations cannot keep up with the pace of change and match actions accordingly, they are on a collision course with failure. As such, employees need the skills to quickly formulate appropriate goals, gather and evaluate information, gain team consensus, and then act in order to obtain the best results possible.

In Eagle's Flight's engaging experiential learning program, Redline Racing™, participants will work as a team through a challenging task that mimics real-world pressures to make quick and well-informed decisions, use checkpoints to reassess and course-correct, all while contending with stiff competition. This fast-paced, hands-on experience provides the opportunity to learn and practice the skills your employees need to succeed in transitional times.

THE OUTCOME

Individuals will return to work with the ability, tools, and confidence to:

- Balance action with analysis to efficiently achieve the best possible outcome
- Learn from and apply the lessons of those who have succeeded before
- Build cohesion and consensus among team members
- Course-correct in the face of shifting conditions

THIS ISN'T YOUR ORDINARY LEARNING EXPERIENCE

An Eagle's Flight experiential learning program is unlike anything you or your participants have seen before – it's not another lecture, case study, or role-play. It's an immersive, learn-by-doing experience, where the learning is embedded in an engaging theme intentionally and apparently unrelated to participants' work environments. Why do we do this? It allows participants to simply be themselves in the experience, and act as they normally would at work. This is where true behavior change begins.

By personally experiencing the results that come from applying their existing behaviors, participants see the link between their performance in the experience and the changes they need to make to maximize performance at work. A powerful debrief reinforces the lessons learned in the experience and shows how to apply those lessons back on the job. New competencies are developed, learnings are retained, and individuals are more likely and better able to enthusiastically apply their new knowledge to improve their day-to-day performance.

"The use of your experiences to build understanding and conviction is an Eagle's Flight trademark; and one which, in my opinion, is a true differentiator that sets you apart from all others in your field."
